

ABSTRACT OF THE INVENTION

A brake controller system for a towing vehicle and a towed vehicle. The system has a brake control unit that controls a brake activator. The brake control unit takes various data readings, which may include temperature of the brake activator and brake fluid pressure. The system then calculates an appropriate amount of brake force and determines whether to supply additional voltage with a voltage booster.

5

402233 "T002E060